FOUR YACHTS REACH BERMUDA ISLANDS

HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 8.—Four of the yachts in the great ocean race from Marbichead to Hamilton, have reached the Bermuda islands tonight. The schooner Dervish, owned by Commodore Henry A. Morse of the Corinthian Yacht club, won in class B by nearly a whole day, while the little Venona, owned by Elmer J. Bliss of Boston and flying the colors of the Eastern Yacht club, was the class C winner by six hours, 49 minutes and 25 seconds, over the Marchioness, the chirty of John D. Crozer of Philadelphia, and representing the Yachtemens Association of Philadelphia.

The Venona's clapsed time was 99 hours, 32 minutes and 15 seconds, she having finished first of all the boats. The fourth yacht to appear was ten miles from the linish at dark tonight. She is believed to be the Esperanza, owned by J. Dalzeil McKee of Pittsburg.

LUMLEY GETS BUSY SIGNING UP PLAYERS

Dalzell McKee of Pittsburg.

Manager Lumley of the Salt Lake baseball team got busy Monday and signed up several players. The first man to attach his name to a contract was McKoan, an old Western league pitcher, who will play in the outfield. McKean is one of the best hitters in the country, and Lumley believes he will lead the league in hitting. He also signed Castro and McConnel for the infield and James for the outfield. Lumley said that he had two pitchers on the string that

NEW YORK, June 8.—Alfred Shrubb, the English professional distance runner, and holder of the fast running tecords from one and a quarter to eleven miles, has arrived in New York. While here he has arrived in New York. While here he will ebgage in a series of professional races and he will try to induce Tom Longboat, the Indian, to run him a match for a respectable sum. Shrubh was accompanied by his wife and baby.

Before leaving for America, Shrubh made an attempt to heat the world's record for ten miles, which is 50.40, made by himself while an amateur, but he failed by about three minutes.

A new luxury, restlessness, discontent, and chauvinism have invaded all classes. The Germany of today, pursuing wealth with a more than American ardor, has cultivated with assiduity, and not with-out success, the amenities and what Burke called "the solemn plausibili-ties" of life, has become more polished. more ceremonious, more preoccupied with the small niceties and embellish-ments of social intercourse; but has lost, or is rapidly losing, the old simplicity and purity of manners.

Crimes against property and morality have multiplied in Germany in the last thirty years with an appalling rapidity Financial jugglers have kept pace with them. Berlin is the most cosmopolitan and the most corrupt of European cities, and flaunts a coarseness of depracity that is not, I think, equalled anywhere. The Germans bave rushed into city life just at a time when they are losing their spiritual faith in theories of mora restraint. The influence of the Socialist temper is not to be sought in politics alone; it has indoctrinated at least a third part of the German nation with the religion of the crudest materialism. CHURCH INFLUENCE IN AMERICAN POLITICS

There have been smiles at the report that at the meeting of the Methodist general conference, on May 14, Bishop Neely charged the Roman Catholic church with mingling in politics. Its influence, he said (as quoted), is felt in our state and municipal governments and at Washington. No doubt, no doubt, but it would not be hard to get testimonials that the influence of Bishop Neely's church is also felt in our state and municipal governments and in Washington. church is also left in oir state and municipal governments and in Washington.
Who fights the army canteen? Who makes congressmen airaid to come home without having driven beer out of the

Mr. Falrbanks drank the cocktail? The Methodist church is very influential in our politics. There are six and a haif million Methodists in the country, over five million Baptists, and eleven or twelve million Bentia Catholies. All three of these large churches are bound to be influential, and the Methodists certainly are. Just what distinction Elshop Neely would make we don't know. It is concelvable that in some matters the two influences supplement one another to the profit of the community, and that in other matters they temper one another, also to matters they temper one another, also to the profit of the community.—Harper's Weekly.

THE WAY HE USED TO DO.

Sometimes when I come in at night
And take my shoes off at the stair.
I hear my pop turn on the light
And holler: "William, are you there?"
And then he says: "You go to bed—
I knew that stealthy step was you."
And I asked how, and then he said:
""Cause that's the way I used to do."

Sometimes when I come home at $ O'Clock and hurry up my chores,
And get a big armful of sitcks
Of wood and bring it all indoors.
My pop he comes and feels my head

An Automatic Money Assorter. A machine has just been invented in Prague for assorting coins. The invenclaims that it will assort metal coins which have been thrown together, regardless of their denominations, placing each denomination in a separate basket. The various coins are thrown indiscriminately into a funnel at the top of the machine, and from the funnel top of the machine, and from the funnel they slide downward, alighting on a spiral track. This track has a protecting edge or raised border containing slits corresponding to the various sizes of the coins. As the coins of various denominations gible downward on to the track, through some peculiar mechanism of the machine they pass through the slits corresponding to their various. the slits corresponding to their vari sizes, entering their respective baskets at the bottom of the machine. It is said that several firms handling large amounts of coin daily have tried the machine with satisfactory results. The same principle is not unknown in Florida and California, where it is opted for sizing oranges,-Harper's

OFFICIAL RESTRICTION OF "MOCHA" COFFEE

PARIS, June 8.—Henri Rochefort, editor of the Patric, whose bitter enmity to the Clemencean government is well known, insinuates in the Patric spect to the restrictions which it is necspect to the restrictions which it is necessary to place upon the sale of coffees coming from the Dutch East Indies, particularly with respect to such coffees as are known under the name of "Java" coffee. Among the coffees largely sold upon the American market are those which go by the name of "Mocha." Because of the commercial value of the true Mocha bean, it becomes necessary to indicate the restrictions.

value of the true Mocha bean, it becomes necessary to indicate the restrictions which must be placed upon the coffees put upon the market and sold under the name of "Mocha."

This matter has been fully investigated and valuable information obtained through the Department of State and from the consul and consular agent in those districts where the true Mocha coffee is grown and whence it is coffee is grown and whence it is shipped to America and other parts of

The following quotations are taken from the report submitted to the Department of State from the consular agent at Aden, under date of January

The Mocha coffee is produced in that district of Southern Arabia known as "Yemen." The latter is a strip of territory commencing at a point on the Red Sea a little north of the port of Hodeidah and extending first southeast to the Strait of Babel-Mandeb and then east nearly to Aden. Yemen is, with the exception of a narrow fringe of land along the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aden, rugged and mountainous, embracing innumerable small, elevated valleys of high fertility, which are irrigated by waters from the melting snows. This is the coffee district of Arabia.

The term "Mocha" was bestowed upon "Yemen" coffee early in the last century, when Mecha was the port from which all Arabian coffee was shipped. The formation of huge sandbars in the Red Sea off Mocha, practically barring by mixing it with the Abyssinian ar-ticle. Such a proceeding would be readily and rapidly detected. It is safe to say that practically all of the cof-fees shipped directly from Hodeidah or Aden to the United States and labeled (Macha?) are nore and evaluations and Aden to the United States and labeled "Mocha" are pure and unadulterated. The board is of the opinion that the term "Mocha," as applied to coffee, should be restricted as indicated in the above communication from the consular agent at Aden, that is, to coffee grown in that part of Arabia to the north and east of Hodeidah, known as Yemen.

PASTIMES OF SOME MADMEN ARE OF SCIENTIFIC VALUE

Villejuif invented a "panification machino" by combining a bottle, a plank, and small metallic tubes, to which he had fitted faucets. Having set up his machine, he produced loaves of bread the size of a man's head. The bread was good—so good that it was decided to make the machine known. One day when it was in action the doctor suggested making a character of it. when it was in action the doctor suggested making a photograph of it. The laventer watched him as if petrified for a moment; then he fell upon the machine wrenched it apart, and trampled it underfeot. The invention—an exceedingly useful one—was lost, because no one had seen him make it, and no one dares speak of it to him. To allide to it is to bring on a furious attack. Most lunatics, no matter how contented they may be, generally cherish a furtive longing to escape. They collect wax from the polished floors, take the impressions of locks, and make keys from empty sardine boxes, speon handles, or anything to be found. Dr. Marie's museum includes a collection of knives of strange and anheard of shapes. Some of them have blades made from pieces of glass or slate and set in handles of corset steels. Objects harmless in themselves become danger ous weapons through the ingenuity of madmen.

FIRE DRIVES GUESTS OUT OF BIG HOTEL

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., June 9.— Two hundred and five guests of the Hotel Gramatau, at Bronxville, West-chester county, were driven from their rooms by a fire, which broke out early today in the left wing of the hotel. One third of the hotel, which stands on a hill, was destroyed before the flames were extinguished. There was no loss of life, and the property loss is estimated at $150,000.

The fire started from a defective flue

The fire started from a detective flue in the room of a guest on the second floor, and the alarm was promptly sounded. Clerks and bell-boys ran through the hallways and saw that all the guests were aroused. The hotel fire brigade ran lines of hose to the burn-

The guests, the majority of whom were New Yorkers, hurried to the lawns when the slarm was sounded, but many when the slarm was sounded, but many returned to their rooms to gather what they could. Notwithstanding the fact that the water pressure was light at the top of the hill, where the hotel was situated, the firemen finally conquered the flames, though not until one of the wings of the hotel had been destroyed. A few of the guests left for New York, but nearly two hundred returned to the hotel after the fire had been extinguished.

The formation of huge sandbars in the Red Sea off Mocha, practically barring out all shipping, caused the port to be abandoned, and its trade went to Hodeldah and Aden, the bulk of it going to the latter place.

As all of the coffee raised in Yemen may properly be called "Mocha" coffee, all coffee shipped from the port of Hodeldah comes within such classification. With regard to that exported from Aden, however, the case is somewhat different. There is a coffee grown in the upland regions of Abyssinia, in the vicinity of Harrar, which is known locally and to the coffee trade of the world as "Longberry" or "Harrar," in contrast with that of Mocha, which is sometimes called the "Shortberry." The colors of both coffees are practically the same, but the Abyssinian product has a raw, rank, leathery odor, while that of the berry grown in Arabia is delicate and agreeable. The Harrar berry is much longer than the Mocha one, besides being much less regular in form.

While a considerable quantity of Abyssinian coffee is brought to Aden for shipment to Europe and to the United States, it is doubtful whether very much of it, if any, is exported as being Mocha coffee, the local merthania, as a rule, dealing in both grades of the coffee and being very careful of the reputation of their houses. In Aden the only way in which a dishonest dealer might adulterate Mocha coffee would be by mixing it with the Abyssinian article. Such a proceeding would be proudily and the Abyssinian article.
